WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Nov. 19th, 1904.

Editor Press:—

The promptness with which the President punishes wrong doing, in subordination and unprofessional conduct in office, illustrated by the recent dismissal of three judges in Alaska, whose integrity was called in question, a clerk in the Post Office department, and a surgeon in the Army, who being a married man, professed to be single, is only equaled by the hearty indorsement and encouragement he gives to those who have served him and the public well. Those in the employ of the Executive branch of the government know by this time exactly what to expect from Peesident Roosevelt. Witness the two letters from his hand this week called forth by the resignation of Pension Commissioner Ware, and Col. Hecker, one of the engineers of the Panama Canal Commission. The letter to Mr. Ware, in which the President tells him he knows of no other man who has ever conducted the great bureau so economically and with such satisfaction to all concerned, is a stunning rebuke to those who have indulged in carping criticism at the Commissioners expense, owing to some little eccentricities of his personality. It is doubtful if any other public servant ever received such a glowing letter of commendation and friendship from any President.

The forthcoming President's Message is now a matter of consideration at the White House as well as of speculation in the community. Much of it can be easily forecast. It will not be a very long message. The order has been given to the chiefs of bureaus to make their reports short and to the point. Naturally the President will refer with satisfaction to the fact that many of his invitations to the nations to join in a second peace conference at the Hague have been accepted. The progress of the negotiations for arbitration treaties will be mentioned with satisfaction. Other topics which can be justly mentioned with pride are the peaceful relations America sustains with all the nations of the world, the domestic prosperity which has prevailed during the past year; the progress of the preliminary work upon the Panama canal; the peace which prevails in the Philippines and the development of that country; the success of the World's Fair at St. Louis, the last installment of the loan of $5,600,000 having been recouped into the Treasury; the work accomplished and proposed in matters of irrigation and forestry; the proposed revision of the tariff, the necessity which exists for building a great navy; the need of a change in the laws relating to the inspection of steamboats; the recent army maneuvers at Manassas; regret at the continuance of the war in the East, and a summary reports from various departments.

It is the opinion of politicians in Washington that no extra session of Congress will be called; that the President will not now propose any legislation looking to a decrease of representation in the House on account of the disfranchisement of the negro vote in the South. There are reports to the effect that in due time the President contemplates making a tour of the south.

Well Earned Rest.

Wm. A. Sprung, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, left last Monday on a ten-day visit to Buffalo aud Corry. After a long and successful career as eng'neer on N. Y. Central and Pennsylvania R. R., he is placed on the retired list with a clean record. He will continue to reside in Emporium, where the family are respected and have hosts of friends.

Foot Amputated.

James R. Fetter, of this place, several years ago, while working on a rilroad bridge let a heavy timber fall on his left foot, injuring it severely. After several operations his foot has continued to cause him great trouble and pain and finally he entered Medico, Chi. Hospital, at Philadelphia, hoping they might succeed in saving his foot. His foot was found in a worse condition than thought, amputation being necessary. Amputation took place last Wednesday, the operation being very satisfactory. He will be able to come home in a short time. Mr. Fetter has suffered for years and it is now hoped his greot loss may be compensated by the comfort he is sure to have.

Rush for Tickets.

The Peoples' Star Course board opened at seven o'clock, Tuesday morning at H. S. Lloyd's store. A large number of people lined up in front of the store at an early hour, in fact a number appeared as early as five o'clock. Our friend Wm. Wieman was first to appear and many think he stayed up all night, from the fact that he was seen keeping a bonfire company at three o'clock a. m., his only company being a monster tom-cat, which seemed to enjoy the warmth. William is all right, just the same, but he could not smoke out Harry S. Lloyd.

Seriously, the interest manifest in the rush for seats was ahead of anything ever seen here—over three hundred season seats being sold at this writing, Tuesday.

The December Smart Set.

The feature of the December Smart Set is undoubtediy the novelette, "Clavering and His Daughter," a story of Washington life, by a new author, Foxcroft Davis, whose meteoric entrance into the field of fiction is likely to be the sensation of the season. Totally unknown this writer's first manuscript was not only accepted on sight by one of the most conservative publishing houses in America, but two new books were contracted for to form a series of three, all on the national politics and society entertaining at Washington. Meanwhile The Smart Set has secured the first work to be published under the name of Foxcroft Davis—a story of a remarkable man a remarkable woman in the interesting setting of life at the nation's capital, which no author has yet known so intimately and vitally. The appearance of this story is an even t.

It is a supreme test of the rest of the December number that even such a novel as "Clavering and His Daughter" cannot overshadow the mirit of the excellent short stories which follow it. Particulatly does "The End of the Story," by Emma Wolf, stand out from the mass of midwinter fiction—an unusual story of a unique situation, tragic in its intensity, with a climax whose strength it equaled only by the subtlety which leaves the reader with the book in his hands, living it over again and wondering.

A hint at the subject matter of some of the stories proves their variety—a life-mystery in India, a very human comedy among Western cowboys, a manifestion of the subliminal self which decides a naval battle, how three people face an ethical problem in their lives, a strange million-dollar legacy, a fanciful satire on realism and idealism in life-views, a bit of the supernatural in real life, on women and wine, and—just a love story.

Italian Hold-Up.

Last Friday evening while the Italians employed at the Keystone Powder Company were eating supper several of their fellow countrymen walked into the shanty. After being invited to join in the meal they responded by demanding $200.00 under the Black Hand threat of death instantly. They searched the men and only secured $54.50—two of the men being cute enough to drop their checks and money on the floor, it being dark in the room and escaped detection. Of cours they recovered the money when the brigands departed.

On the following day, about two o'clock, three Italians held up another Italian, employed at the coke ovens, whilst returning from Emporium and "held him up" for $6.18, evidently thinking he had his month's pay. Word was sent to Emporium for officers, when Chief of Police Munday and Owen Dinniny rapidly drove to Cameron, passing the Italians on the road meeting a crew of men coming to the assistance of the officers. The officers and men retraced their steps and succeeded in arresting the bad men. After releiving them of their arms and huge knives they were brought to Emporium. At a hearing before Esquire Larrabee one of the Cameron prisoners was identified as belonging to the Keystone robbers. All three are confined in Fort Hemphill, in default of $500 fail, to await trial. In justice to our resident Italians, we desire to state that they emphatically condemned the actions of their countrymen and aided the prosecution.

Art Exhibit a Success.

The exhibit of pictures at the old Presbyterian church last week was a success artistically, socially and financially. The pictures are certainly fine reproductions and worth a critical study. The amount realized for the purchase of pictures will be announced next week, together with the amount received as subscriptions.

The evening entertainments were exceedingly attractive, thanks to the kindness and patience of the ladies of the entertainment committee The greatest interest and helpfulness were shown by all who were asked to do committee work, and the teachers are duly grateful. We invite parents and friends to visit the schools at any time, but especially after the pictures are in place. E. S. LING.

Bowling Match.

The bowling match between St. Marys and Emporium teams was pulled off at Creighton's alley last Thursday evening. The Emporium team was defeated last season by St. Marys. The following score was made Thursday evening:

A serious fire occured at Sinnamahoning last Friday night, destroying the P. O. S of A., building, occupied as lodge room and store rooms. The loss is a severe one to the noble order. We do not have information as to the insurance.

Found.

F. G. Judd found a store key, a folded steel key. The owner can have the same by calling at this office, proving property and paying for this notice.

The Observer.

The Observer followed with much interest the recent legislative campaign in the county, and he experienced so little inward satisfaction over Mr. Howard's success. The Observer was also pleased to note the cheerful philosophy displayed by the Independent in the hour of defeat and the serene way in which it comes forward, after the shouting is over, with a complete program of what Mr. Howard is to do as Representative from Cameron county. We may now look for the Brooklyn Eagle to map out President Roosevelt's coming administration along the lines of its own campaign editorials. Yet the Observer would not like to discourage the Independent from engaging in the discussion of public affairs. The first element in a free civic and social atmosphere is discussion; the second, discussion; the third, discussion. The conclusions of the Independent will not be accepted by the people nor by Mr. Howard as final; nevertheless its discussions will serve to keep the minds of the people centered upon certain matters which are of proper public concern.

Some little discussion has already been given to the subject of the unseated lands in the county held by the state. It is the contention of the Independent that the state should pay taxes to the county on these lands, and so lighten the burdens of taxation which rest upon the other property owners of the county. Inasmuch as this question has been brought forward, it should be looked into carefully. The Observer does not pretend to say that he is in a position to say all that can be said on this subject; nevertheless he ventures to think that he can offer a few considerations which may at least prove helpful towards a sensible view.

It should not be forgotten that the state was under no obligation to assume the ownership of these lands, nor that in doing so its motive was to confer a benefit upon the people of the state and not least upon the counties in which these lands are located. Had the state not purchased these lands, they would have remained practically ownerless, yielding no revenue to the county, unless, perchance, the commissioners could have made something for the county out of rattlesnake skins and wintergreen berries. The state may with reason argue that the county is better off with a state forestry reserve within its bounds than it would be were these lands to lie absolutely waste and ownerless. The state has merely been doing its part towards making a bad condition a little better. If the county is confronted by an embarrassing situation, the state is not to be blamed for it. It was not the state that rendered these lands undesirable and profitless. It appears to the Observer that it is up to Cameron county to work out its own salvation without asking charity from the state. Surely the county has other resources than lumber; and it should be the united desire and effort of the people of the county to encourage the development of these resources. We should rejoice whenever a piece of waste land is converted into a farm. We should encourage also the establishment of manufacturing industries. It is all very well to keep girding at the corporations, but it will not do to forget that it is the corporations that are the chief agencies in the development of natural resources, bringing money into the county where it is paid out in the form of wages. The hope of the county lies in the development of agriculture and manufactures. If these should fail, it would be useless for the county to hope to keep alive by going on the state. But the county is not yet ready to say die. Mr. Howard for one, and many more with him, believe that the industrial and financial salvation of Cameron county is in a fair way to be wrought out, and they are proving their faith by their deeds.

Assuming that a measure authorizing the county to levy taxes upon state lands would be constitutional, what likelihood is there that the state could be induced to enact such a measure? What argument could be used with the voters of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties, for instance, to convince them that the taxpayers of the whole state should contribute a special revenue to the coffers of Cameron and a few other counties?. Moreover if the state should begin by authorizing the taxation by the counties of unseated timber lands held by the state, on what ground could it refuse a demand from Dauphin county that the state should pay a conty tax on the state property located in Harrisburg? In the judgment of the Observer, the proposition to have the state pay taxes to the county on unseated lands is visionary and impossible. To ask for such legislation would be construed as a request that the state should grant a bounty appropriation to Cameron and a few other counties, and we may as well face the conclusion first as last that such an appropriation will not be forthcoming. If the Observer is wrong in his view of the question, he would like to be corrected.

Next week the Observer will discuss the socialistic program of the Independent.

Pie.

Let us all give a vote of thanks to Senator Platt for restoring pie to its proper place in the breakfast menu. Pie was fast drifting from its time honored position in dietetics when the sage of Tioga stayed the hand of the despoiler and made pumpkin pie triumphant. A pie ten feet long and weighing two hundred pounds is a triumph of culinary art, but its size was only proportioned to its inherent value, and it serves as a landmark in history.

Pie has not been abandoned entirely in these unregenerate days, but it has been modified and shoved away from its proper place. It is true that there are pie counters where machine-made specimens are devoured daily, but they do not count. The real pie is a work of art and must be made in the home, where it now is cut in small pieces and only served, if at all, at dinner time after a full meal. This is wrong. The time to eat pie is at breakfast. Our ancestors did so, and look at what they accomplished. There are those who claim that it breeds indigestion, but have we any reason to believe that pie injured the heroes of Bunker Hill, King's Mountain or Saratoga? Not at all. The intellectual value of a pie is lost unless it is swallowed immediately after arising.

Look at the statesmen and schoolmasters and inventors who came from New England! Does any one suppose they could have accomplished so much if they had been raised on a different regimen.

The truth seems to be that Massachusetts elected a Democratic Governor solely on the pie issue. The Republican candidate was a silk stocking who never ate pie except after dinner, while the horny-handed Douglas sticks to the breakfast dish of his ancestors. Johnson the Swede, who carried Minnesota, is an editor who counts that day lost when he does not have pie for breakfast. We might multiply examples but the truth is already sufficiently apparent.

Of late Senator Platt has been somewhat in eclipse because of the machinations of Odell. By a master stroke of diplomatic strategy he has restored his fortunes and placed himself firmly in the affection of all right-thinking people by having the greatest pie on record served to his retainers. A man who can eat pie for breakfast can do almost anything in the world. Those who cannot are weaklings and not entitled to live. It is the Rubicon of modern existence, and the new fashion seems certain to restore the Nation to the simple life and habits of our ancestors.—Phila. Inquirer.

The Journal congratulates Josiah Howard on his splendid victory in Cameron county but no less heartly the people of the dear little county for selecting that kind of a man to represent them in the State Legislature.—Coudersport Journal.

Miss Hollahan.

We regret that, owing to unfavorable conditions, Miss Hollahan did not have a larger audience last evening. The lady however gave her entire programme and developed a talent for her line of work. Hope she may, at some future date, be better patronized,

Judd L. Minick Marries.

The Turkeys.

The generous donor sent 105 turkeys to Emporium widows for their Thanksgiving dinner, to day. Chapter Banquet.

Last Tuesday evening Emporium Chapter Masons enjoyed an extra treat, having a Banquet at Presbyterian church by the ladies. Davison, Johnsonburg. Turkey and Greece prevented our attending, much to our regret.

H. L. RAYMOND.

Dr. J. T. Rothrock, who resigned June 1st as state forestry commissioner, has bought a mountain farm adjacent to the Mount Alto Sanitorium in Franklin county and proposes to establish thereon a private sanitarium for tuberculosis patients.

Gertrude Roberts and her very clever company of artists under the management of Messrs. Morrow and Arnold, was greeted by a large audience at Kane's Theatre last night. "Little Wildcat," (the romp) was the bill with Miss Roberts in the lead and the performance pleased all.—Renovo News. The company will be here for three nights commencing Thursday Dec. 1st.

Gertrude Roberts, one of the brilliant and successful stars now before the public is announced for appearance at the Emporium Opera House for 3 nights commencing December 1st in a strictly high class reperetore of standard plays. It has been a long time since an actress has stepped so quickly and emphatically with the hearts of the Theatre going public as has Miss Roberts. Endowed with an attractive stage appearance, a thorough training in the fundamental principles of her art and a keen perception of the requirements of the roll she is called upon to enact, she gives a performance of finish and power. Managers Morrow & Arnold has surrounded Miss Roberts with a strong and well balanced supporting company, so there is every reason to suppose that the performances as a whole will be most enjoyable ones.

The growth of the beet sugar industry in Colorado is constantly creating a demand for new factories. Lamar, Col., is to have a new beet sugar factory which will employ 300 men at least five months in the year. The plant will handle the crops of the eastern part of the Arkansas valley and will be ready for the 1905 campaign.

The fifty-eighth report of the commissioner of lunacy of Great Britain, issued September 7, 1904, shows that in England and Wales on January 1 last 117,199 persons were certified as insane, being 3,235 in excess of the number on the same day in 1903. This increase is comparable with that of 3,251 in 1902, 2,769 in 1901 and 1,333 in 1900, the average annual increase in the ten years ended December 31, 1903, being 2,513.

The agricultural year in Spain is nearing its close, and farmers are about to gather their late crops. Months ago the vineyards promised an abundant yield, but storms, frost, sleet and mildew have spoiled large tracts in many districts. The continuous droughts in the provinces of Valencia, La Mancha and Aragon, at the critical period for the development of the grapes, has materially diminished the wine product.

Sheffield's gas consumption has increased from 1,131,000,000 cubic feet to 2,718,000,000 cubic feet in the past 23 years, an increase of 140 per cent., while the price has decreased from 56 cents to 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, or 285 per cent—this for coal gas, not water gas—with a standard of 16.50 candle power tested by the corporation. It is claimed from this showing that Sheffield is as well served as any city in the kingdom, and at a lower price.

The Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railway Co. contemplates cutting all records in railway speeds. For the next winter season a train for the Riviera is to be put on the rails which will leave Paris at 9 a. m. and will reach Nice at 10:50 p. m. As the distance is 676 miles, this will necessitate an average speed over the entire journey of from 60 to 62 miles an hour. The engine selected is of the compound type of 1,000 horse-power, and with four cylinders.

Statistics for India for 1902 show that the population has increased over 40,000,000 since 1891 and numbered at the time of the census of that year 294,361,056 persons, who spoke 185 different languages and observed eight great religions. During 1902 36,002 persons were killed by reptiles and wild animals. Tigers killed 1,040, leopards, 609; wolves, 307; other wild animals, 904, and reptiles, 23,166. The number of wild animals destroyed was 14,983, and snakes, 71,384.

After lying submerged for nearly 60 years, the remnants of the first Atlantic liner are being put to commercial uses. In 1847 the Sirius, the first steamer to cross the Atlantic, was lost off the south coast of Ireland, and the wreck remained undisturbed till early this year, when it was raised for the sake of the brass, copper and gun metal in the engines and fittings. These realized a good sum, and the shaft, which is of the finest brass, is to be made into mementoes by an enterprising Birmingham firm.

Every American and nearly every other civilized man recognizes the queer name "Sequoya" at once as referring to the wonderful big trees of California. But how many people know where the name comes from? The godfather of the great trees was Sequoya, a Cherokee Indian. He died in 1843, at the age of 83 years, and he left behind him something that makes his name much more famous among the Cherokees than the fact that the big trees are named after him. Th was the Cherokee syllable alphabet.

Kopak, which is a sort of yellow wadding covering the seeds of certain trees in the Malaccas, is found very useful in stuffing cheap mattresses and pillows, which are delightfully soft if the kopak is exposed to the sun before being used, as its fibres are very non-resisting. It is very light and buoyant, greatly surpassing cork in this respect, as it will support in the water 35 times its own weight. It is said that kapok never decays, while a man weighing 145 pounds can be supported in water on about ten pounds of it.

A RECORD-BREAKING CROP AND A BIG DEMAND.

TO FIGHT SHOPLIFTERS.

Losses of Half a Million Dollars Have Been Sustained by 21 Department Stores in New York City This Year.

New York, Nov. 18.—Losses of half a million dollars through shoplifting have been suffered during the past year by 21 department stores in this city, whose proprietors because of such losses have formed an alliance to fight petty pilfering. The fact such an alliance had been formed came out yesterday when a woman was given a 15-day prison sentence in the court of general sessions, after having pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing goods from a department store.

Hitherto the storekeepers have been willing to let offenders off with a fine, and the court as a rule has acted accordingly. Before sentence was imposed yesterday the attorney who had prosecuted the case said that his law firm had been retained by an alliance of 21 department stores to prosecute every case of shoplifting.

"The shoplifting evil has become so great," said he, "owing to the leniency of justices of special sessions, that it is a very serious matter to the firms concerned. During the past year the losses through shoplifting to the 21 firms in this alliance which I represent have amounted to $500,000."

The several justices declared that they believed they had been too lenient in shoplifting cases, because most of the defendants had been women. Justice Wyatt, speaking for the entire bench, said he would make the woman's sentence severe enough to serve as an example for others. He then imposed the sentence of 15 days, but announced that the next prisoner convicted on such a charge would get a 30-day sentence.

RIOTING IN CHICAGO.

Strikers Attacked a Furniture Company's Wagons that Were in Charge of Non-Unionists.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—A mob of sympathizers with striking furniture movers attacked several wagons of the Johnson Chair Co. in the heart of the business district yesterday and for a time traffic was blocked by a mass of struggling rioters. The drivers of the wagons were menaced by the mob. The few policemen on hand were helpless to make any headway against the crowd, which only gave way when reinforcements of police arrived.

Similar trouble occurred when two wagons loaded with chairs drove up to the Sherman street entrance to the board of trade building. A crowd of over 1,000 persons followed the wagons, which were under police guard, and many threats were made against the non-union drivers.

The doors of the Jackson boulevard side of the board of trade building were locked and other doors guarded, that no trouble might occur in the building. Operators, clerks and messengers gathered upon window ledges of the board of trade and surrounding buildings, threw corn upon the crowd and increased the confusion by yelling continuously. The corn throwers were finally dislodged by the police.

Ropes which held dozens of chairs on the wagons were cut. Foes of the non-union drivers hurled chairs at the wagon men. Two patrolmen received injuries from chairs. A running fight ensued, the crowd pursuing the wagons all the way back to the factory.

Automobile Accident was Fatal.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 18.—In an automobile accident in the suburbs of the city yesterday Humphrey Praed, assistant general manager of the San Jacinto Land Co., of Riverside, Cal., was instantly killed and Miss Mina Rudolph, leading lady of the San Toy opera company, and C. S. Fry, chauffeur, seriously hurt. Praed was running the machine when it went over an embankment.

Was Murdered for His Money.

Niles, Mich., Nov. 18.—The charred body of John Perkins, an aged wood chopper, has been found in the ruins of his shanty which stood in a woods seven miles south of here. He was supposed to have had considerable money hidden in his shanty and the police think he was killed and robbed and that the murderer then set fire to the shanty.

Raised the Price of Bar Iron.

New York, Nov. 18.—The Eastern Bar Iron association has ordered an advance of $2 per ton in the price of its products.

FOUR PEOPLE KILLED.

Street Cars Ran Away at a Railroad Crossing and Were Struck by a Train.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 18.—A street car with a trailer attached got beyond control of the motorman and crashed through the guard gates at the Queen street crossing of the Grand Trunk railway last night. A Montreal freight train struck the forward car, grinding it to splinters. Every passenger on the street car was injured, two dying soon after being taken from the wreckage and two at the hospital. The dead are:

James Armstrong, conductor.

One year-old child of J. Robertson.

Mrs. Minnie Mahaffy, internally injured, died at hospital.

Russell T. Stephens, internally injured, died at hospital.

The forward car was struck fairly in the center and completely demolished. The vestibule from which the motorman had jumped was carried up the track 100 yards. The trailer was overturned and all the windows were smashed, but the body of the car remained intact.

Can't Go Behind the Returns.

Denver, Nov. 18.—The supreme court yesterday reaffirmed its decision that it has the right to take jurisdiction of the last election, and the hearing of testimony in the cases of 27 election officers who have been cited for contempt was commenced. The court further held that the elections commission in making the Denver count cannot go behind the returns, but must use the written count of the election judges and not count the tallies. The decisions are victories for the republicans, as in both cases the motions of the republican attorneys were sustained.

A Rare Surgical Operation.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 18.—After having been imbedded in Harry Elwell's chest for four years a silver tube, four inches long and one-fourth inch in diameter, has been removed by an operation. Elwell, who is 26 years of age, suffered with an abscess of the throat about four years ago. An incision was made and a silver tube was inserted to drain pus from the abscess. The tube slipped into the chest and the attending physicians closed the wound, sewing it inside. For a time Elwell appeared in good health, but his old trouble recurred and the operation was performed.

Four Men Were Asphyxiated.

New York, Nov. 18.—Four men were asphyxiated by gas at Dover, N. J., yesterday at the plant of the Dover, Rockaway and Port Oram Gas Co. They constituted the entire working force of the plant and were discovered by George E. Bunnell, a former employe, who on visiting the plant found it apparently deserted, with the engines running under a full head of steam and scarcely any water in the boilers. After shutting down the engines and attending to the boilers, Bunnell found the four men beneath an open trap door in the meter room.

Held His Would-be Captors at Bay.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—After he had shot and probably fatally wounded Conrad Baxman at Bartlett, Ill., yesterday, William Pollworth, 20 years of age, barricaded himself in the home of his mother and for hours defied a score of citizens who had surrounded the Pollworth house in an effort to capture the youth. Pollworth used a shotgun and a revolver to keep the crowd from forcing an entrance to the house. It was not until Sheriff Barrett, of Cook county, had sent 15 deputy sheriffs to Bartlett that Pollworth threw away his weapons and surrendered.

Dynamiters at Work.

Barcelona, Nov. 18.—By the explosion of a bomb in the Rue Fernando last evening six people were injured, one of them fatally.

The End of a Long Strike.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 18.—A resolution asking that the boycott be taken off the shops of the members of the Rochester Clothing Exchange has been passed by the United Garment Workers here. This is the end of the strike and boycott begun against the Rochester clothing market October 12, 1903.

The Turk Buys 100 New Batteries.

Berlin, Nov. 18.—A dispatch from Constantinople says Turkey is ordering 100 new batteries of artillery from Germany, French and English factories at a cost of $10,000,000.

PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDED.

THREE MEN KILLED AND NINE PERSONS INJURED.

The Trains Came Together at a "Y" Junction at Elmdale, Mich.—Switch Was Not Turned.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 17.—Two passengers were killed and nine or more passengers and trainmen were injured in a rear-end passenger train collision last night at Elmdale, on the Pere Marquette railroad. The dead:

M. Simons, New York City.

J. L. Strelitzkey, Chicago.

Late last night the mangled body of a colored man was dug out of the wreck. It is supposed the body is that of the porter of the parlor car.

The collision occurred at Elmdale Junction, 22 miles east of Grand Rapids. Both trains were eastbound, No. 6 for Detroit and No. 34 for Saginaw. The Saginaw train had preceded the Detroit train out of Grand Rapids by a few minutes and was standing on a "Y" at Elmdale, where the Saginaw division branches off from the Detroit division. Through some mistake the switch was not turned behind the Saginaw train and the Detroit train also ran upon the "Y," the engine of the Detroit train crashing into the rear of the parlor car of the Saginaw train.

The passengers injured were in the parlor car of the latter and the trainmen who were hurt were on the Detroit train. The Pere Marquette officials at Detroit state that the Detroit train was running slow, as it was approaching a station.

No explanation has been made as to where the responsibility lies for failure to throw the switch behind the Saginaw train when it had turned from the Detroit division. Ordinarily there is 20 minutes' time between the two trains, but last night the Saginaw train was held at Grand Rapids to wait for passengers from a train on the Chicago division. Through this arrangement the Detroit train was following close behind the Saginaw train as far as Elmdale.

DEATH BY THE GAS ROUTE.

Three New Yorkers Shuffled Off in This Manner in One Day.

New York, Nov. 17.—Three persons are dead and another is at a hospital in a serious condition as a result of inhaling illuminating gas. In only one case was there anything to indicate that the victim had invited death.

After eking out a wretched existence for several months past, ill, unable to work and dependent upon the charity of her neighbors, Mrs. Rosa Rosenberger locked herself into her little basement room in the rear of an East Side tenement, opened half a dozen gas jets and lay down to die. Her body was found by the janitress of the building.

Frederick Brandt, who called himself a "professor of astrology," turned on the gas by accident in his lodgings in West Forty-second street and lost his life.

Accidental disconnection of a tube from the gas stove in his room on East Thirty-seventh street is supposed to have been responsible for the death of William Coffey, a roofer. Coffey had been dead for hours when his body was found.

Mrs. Mary Higgins, a domestic, was overcome by gas fumes in a furnished room in the East Side. She is now at a hospital and may recover, but her condition is extremely critical.

HONORED BY HIS NEIGHBORS.

Democrats Vie with Republicans in Paying a Tribute of Esteem to the Vice President-Elect.

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—Political affiliations were forgotten last night when several hundred representative men of both the republican and democratic parties assembled at the Commercial club to congratulate Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, vice president-elect.

John W. Kern, democratic nominee for governor, sat side by side with Senator Albert J. Beveridge and Senator Fairbanks, and the combination added enthusiasm when the leaders of the two parties engaged in friendly political repartee. John W. Kern acted as chairman of the meeting and called upon Senator Fairbanks, Senator Beveridge, Judge F. E. Gavin and Addison C. Harris, formerly minister to Austria.

Senator Fairbanks was given prolonged applause when he rose to speak. In his introductory address Mr. Kern paid a high tribute to the vice president-elect, saying that in the whole campaign he heard no bitter word fall from his lips, and that he yielded the same liberty to his opponents as he himself claimed under the American flag.

Another Head Falls.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Postmaster General Wynne yesterday removed from office D. M. Monroe, of Wisconsin, a stenographer in the office of the first assistant postmaster general. The cause assigned was insubordination and the writing of a communication to the late Postmaster General Payne criticizing his superiors in the department as well as the method of keeping its records.

Schooner and Three Lives Lost.

Machias, Me., Nov. 17.—That three residents of Rogue Bluffs lost their lives in the storm Sunday night seemed certain yesterday when a fishing schooner was found sunken in six fathoms of water near Spruce Island, five miles from Rogue Bluffs. The boat was believed to be the schooner Uncas, which left Eastport Sunday and in the gale of that night is supposed to have struck on the ledges outside Spruce Island and sunk with her crew, consisting of the owner, Capt. John Wallace, Walter Davis and an unknown man.

Nothing Great.

A very plain man, whose homely features Whistler, the famous painter, had depicted with uncompromising fidelity, came to him at the end of the last sitting and said: "Come, come, Master Whistler, you can hardly tell me that that is a great work of art." "Perhaps not," said Whistler, nonchalantly, "but then, my dear sir, you can hardly tell me that you are a great work of nature."—London Mail.

GIRL AND WOMAN

CARE NEEDED AT THE CHANGE FROM ONE TO THE OTHER.

Many a Life Spent in Suffering Because Troubles Were Allowed to Develop At This Time.

Every mother of a growing girl should remember that there will come a time when her daughter will be a girl no longer but will share with her the blessings of womanhood. Unless nourishment keeps pace with growth the foundations of a life of suffering are laid at that time. Mrs. John MacKinney, of No. 478 Thirteenth street, Detroit, Mich., writes a timely word. She says:

"I did not get proper care at the first critical time in my life and for seventeen years I suffered as a result. I had dizzy spells, felt a constant fear that something dreadful was about to happen and was afraid to go out alone. My breathing was very short and I had palpitation of the heart so badly that I could not go up stairs nor walk even moderately fast. I was so nervous that I could not sit still. At different times for years I was under the care of the best physicians in Detroit and I tried a number of advertised medicines. Nothing helped me until, on the advice of a neighbor, I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I felt relieved before the first box was finished and I kept on taking them until I was cured.

"Last winter my little girl had rheumatism and I gave her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and she got well right away. My niece was thought to be going into consumption and, upon my advice, she tried the pills. They cured her cough and she is now well and strong. My entire family are enthusiastic over Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and we cannot say enough in their praise."

These pills effect such cures because they go to the root of the disease. Other remedies act on the symptoms—these marvelous vegetable pills remove the cause of the trouble. They have proved themselves to be an unfailing specific for all diseases arising from impure blood and weakened nerves—two fruitful causes of nearly all the ills to which humankind is heir. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold in boxes at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y.

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

The thousands of people who write to me, saying that

A Thanksgiving Code

By JESSIE LLEWELLYN

THEY stood at a high mansard window and looked out through the tops of bare branches. The stars and the street lights blinked at each other across the cold, blue distances. All of human history seemed marching, ghostlike, through the pale night.

"This is Thanksgiving," she said.

"Is it, yes?" he asked, irrelevantly.

"What a little question in such a big world," she replied evasively, and then, "Thanksgiving! I wonder if everyone nowadays is not more resentful for what he has not than thankful for what he has?"

Her mood did not please him, because it did not include him, for it is rude to be impersonal when alone with one man.

She leaned out over the window ledge and drew a long breath: "On a still, cold night like this events of the past seem near—just on the other side of the darkness. I was thinking of the thanksgivings of Miles Standish and Priscilla and the others. How little they had to be grateful for, and yet how religiously great in their thankfulness."

He had not called to speak of the pilgrim fathers, and so he remarked, somewhat rudely: "I was not aware that you were an ultra religionist."

She answered absently, groping her hand along the window sill. "Ah, you mean lighted candles and contribution boxes. It is the courageous faith of our ancestors that thrills one with its dauntlessness. Think of those well-born ladies and gentlemen become pioneers in a wilderness in 67 short days. After drought and famine and visitations from adventurers they could still assemble to worship and to pray on days set aside for giving thanks. I believe their prayers were answered—even personally. As for us—we of the twentieth century—we are precious careful not to pray for anything we have not the cash to pay for."

"All we owe the pilgrims," he said, being compelled to follow her conversational lean, "is a vote of thanks for their generosity in the matter of ancestors. Almost anyone in the blue book can now afford at least two forefathers who came over in the Mayflower. But to return—you were about to answer my question. Is—"

"I can see them now," she interrupted, "with their broad hats and swords buckled at their sides, and—" uncertain in further details she swiftly began again: "How little pleasure they gave themselves! Imagine grown men in ye olden Plymouth playing football of a Thanks day! They would have had their offending feet stuck through a pillory in no time!"

"THIS IS THANKSGIVING," SHE SAID.

"Instead of legs done up in surgical splints—wooden customs both!" He refused to be serious.

She felt without seeing that he was approaching the window again. The pilgrims wouldn't hold out much longer, owing to her uncertain historical data. Was William Penn the first governor of the colony? Or was Cotten Mather? She must say something, or that inevitable question, and if she were to say 'yes' to this frivolous person, what should she say to the new Presbyterian minister of the red brick church?"

"Is it yes—dear?" There was a very personal note in the voice this time, and a hand was ominously near her own on the window ledge.

"If—if you were more serious about things," she began, unsteadily. "Religious things, like Thanksgiving, for instance. If you had a belief or a code or something I could believe in you more—don't you see. Everyone says—"

Evidently he saw something which pleased him, for there was an expansive smile on his face. Suddenly he struck an attitude.

"How would a code of thanks meet with your approval, just owing to the day—"

"I don't believe you were ever thankful for anything."

"My dear young woman, no divine was ever more so. I am thankful for—for the great commonwealth in which we live, with its waving fields of—of—"

"Hay," she suggested.

"I was about to say onions," he corrected. "And its greater statesmen—yes, with its statesmen ever greater than its onion fields, possessed as they are of nothing but love for the wage earner—during presidential campaigns.

"I am thankful that in these United States there are—are noble reformers—who find it possible to reap wealth by denouncing it—thereby proving the possibilities of American statesmanship."

"What are you talking about?"

"Proving myself eligible to ask a simple question. I am thankful for the female brains which discuss the question: 'Shall women propose?' occupying themselves with the discussion they do not propose.

"I am thankful that we do not live in the days of Puritanism, otherwise a certain girl in a certain window would have been burned for a witch—dead certain.

THE MINISTER SAW NOTHING TO BE THANKFUL FOR.

"I am thankful that said girl"—he lowered his voice in a telling way—"is going to say—"

"Yes," she finished softly.

And the Presbyterian minister of the red brick church saw nothing whatever for which to be thankful on the day "set apart and appointed."

Spirit of Thanksgiving

"It Is More Blessed to Give Than to Receive."

PHILOSOPHERS and philanthropists not only indorse the familiar and beloved aphorism, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," but go a step further and claim that the capacity to receive is absolutely dependent on a capacity to spend; that to maintain a receptive attitude towards all the good and enjoyable things of this world, one must spend. The same truth is expressed again in the statement, "He that loseth his life shall find it." We have come to interpret this paradox as meaning that true happiness is attained only when the seeker gets as far from his own personality as possible and interests himself in the life of the world or of the individuals around him. In proportion as we give spontaneously will we receive freely. The gift need not always be tangible and material; it may be the more valuable because of its spiritual quality, but into whatever we bestow some part of ourselves should enter. As Lowell puts it:

"'Tis not what we give, but what we share,
For the gift without the giver is bare."

Thanksgiving is the festival of the family and for that reason is a sad anniversary to the exiles from home, or to those who, lacking home ties, are alone in the world. It offers an especial occasion therefore for the bestowal of happiness. There is a certain embarrassment about inviting the stranger to a Christmas feast because custom calls for an exchange of gifts, but no such obligation rests upon the Thanksgiving guest and the poorest may accept without loss of dignity or pride. The Farmers' Voice is right—unless we can truly feel that we have occasion to rejoice over our own or some one else's good fortune, we would do better not to mock honest sentiment by going through the form of an observation of the day; but if the Thanksgiving spirit is ours, wherever it is possible let us take down the bars of consanguinity and open our hearts to the family of the world, instead of spreading the spiritual and material feast for "me and my wife, my son John and his wife; us four and no more."

WHAT HE GOT THEM WITH

No Ailments in the Crowd, But the Fakir Had Something That Sold Quickly.

"Gentlemen," began the fakir as he arranged numerous bottles on a little table at a downtown street corner and prepared for business, "has anyone in this crowd got a toothache?"

No one answered, relates the Chicago Inter Ocean.

"Has anyone an earache or a headache?"

Not a man had anything to say.

"Very well, then; but are you troubled with insomnia? Are you low spirited, and do you find yourself thinking of suicide?"

The appeal was like the other—in vain. The crowd elbowed each other, but no one advanced.

"Very well, gentlemen; very well. Now, is there anyone here who indulges in intoxicants and wishes to conceal the fact from the women folks? If so, I guarantee that one drop of this marvelous preparation placed on the tongue will instantly remove the odor of any—"

There was a mad rush from all directions, and for the next five minutes he gave change and passed out the bottles with both hands.

RIGHT ON HER DIGNITY.

American Heiress Had Inherited Just as Easy Money as Anybody.

"I understand," said the dignified English matron, "that your father made his money in—in trade."

"What do you mean?" asked the American heiress.

"That he amassed his wealth by buying and selling commodities that the common people needed."

"He did nothing of the sort!" retorted the angry heiress, relates Judge. "I want you to understand that papa did not work a lick for a cent of his. He made it every bit by skinning people with watered stocks. I guess that's just as easy money as the kind that you inherit, isn't it?"

Rewards and Penalties.

"It is difficult for people to get what they really deserve in this life."

"It is difficult for some of us," answered Miss Cayenne "others have to dodge."—Washington Star.

An Honest Opinion.

Mineral, Idaho, Nov. 14th (Special).—That a sure cure has been discovered for those sciatic pains that make so many lives miserable, is the firm opinion of Mr. D. S. Colson, a well-known resident of this place, and he does not hesitate to say that cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reason Mr. Colson is so firm in his opinion is that he had those terrible pains and is cured. Speaking of the matter he says:

"I am only too happy to say Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me lots of good. I had awful pains in my hip so I could hardly walk. Dodd's Kidney Pills stopped it entirely. I think they are a grand medicine."

All Sciatic and Rheumatic pains are caused by Uric Acid in the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy kidneys and healthy kidneys strain all the Uric Acid out of the blood. With the cause removed there can be no Rheumatism or Sciatica.

Mrs. G. W. Fooks, of Salisbury, Md., wife of G. W. Fooks, Sheriff of Wicomico County, says: "I suffered with kidney complaint for eight years. It came on me gradually. I felt tired and weak, was short of breath and was troubled with bloating after eating, and my limbs were badly swollen. One doctor told me it would finally turn to Bright's disease. I was laid up at one time for three weeks. I had not taken Doan's Kidney Pills more than three days when the distressing aching across my back disappeared, and I was soon entirely cured."

The joy of the Republicans of Missouri over the recent overthrow of the Democratic machine in that state is indicated in the note of triumph sounded by the St. Louis Republic, which says. All hail, Republican Missouri. It is no longer poor old Missouri, but a state that stands erect with its face to the light and marching in company with New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. Missouri has cut loose from Bourbonism and political pertrification. It has given its electoral vote to the Republican column, elected a legislature that is Republican on joint ballot and chosen Republican state officers with the exeeption of one who slipped in on false pretenses with the assistance of a number of foolish Republican votes. Missouri will now boom just as the markets are booming and the name of the United States is booming the world over. The great victory in this state was gained over the crookedness of one of the most powerful machines ever organized and one that held control for a third of a century. It is a grand achievement, and won by indomitable Missouri Republicans, whom no defeat, not even thirty years of it, could dishearten.

To Tell if a Man Shaves Himself.

"I can tell in a minute simply by looking at a man whether he shaves himself or is shaved by a barber," said the wielder of the razor and brush "No, it isn't a question of cleanliness nor yet a question of hacking the face There is no reason why a man who is accustomed to shaving himself shouldn't make as clean a job of it as the average barber. And yet I can spot him every time. See that little lock of hair that grows down the side of the face just in front of the ear? Well, when a man is shaved by a barber those two locks don't vary in length more than a sixteenth of an inch. The man who shaves himself, on the other hand, is invariably lop-sided. He always begins to shave higher up on the left side of the face than on the right side, as a consequence of which one side of the face looks longer than the other. No, I don't know that I can explain this phenomenon. I only know that the condition exists." — Philadelphia Record.

Died of Superstition.

Princess Likelike, daughter of Kapaakea and mother of Princess Kaiulani, died on Feb. 3, 1887. She had not been seriously ill, but a lava flow from the great volcano Kilauen, in Hawaii which occurred a few days before her death was to her mind a sure sign that a chieftainess was required by the goddess Pele, that heartless old deity suggested to the children of nature in the ages of volcanic terrors. So firm were Likelike's convictions that the wrath of the furious Pele had to be appeased by her death that she lost heart and never rallied. The night before her death there was a halo around the moon, and when she saw it she abandoned all hope and speedily died. A few years afterward Likihiku heard that he was being prayed to death by an enemy, aided by a sorcerer, a deadly method of warfare, so he simply lay down and died of despair.

He Almost Succeeded.

In a magazine article on Max von Pettenkofer, who has been called the founder of scientific hygiene and next to Humboldt the most popular of all German naturalists, Max Gruber tells a story of the professor's absentmindedness. He lost a fortune in umbrellas, seldom bringing back what he had taken away. Once, however, he made a trip as far as England and was very proud of having actually succeeded in bringing back his umbrella to Germany. At Augsburg he stopped on business, but sent a telegram reading. "At 6 o'clock I return with my umbrella." He did return at 6 o'clock, but as he entered his house in Munich he saw to his dismay that he had no umbrella. He had left it at the telegraph station.

Sea Serpents.

Sea serpents date back to the days of Aristotle, who wrote: "The serpents of Libya are of enormous size. Navigators along the coast report having seen a great quantity of bones of oxen, which they believe without doubt to have been devoured by the serpents. These serpents pursued them (the seamen) when they left the shore and upset one of their triremes."

Olaus Magnus wrote in the middle ages of a sea serpent 200 feet long and 20 feet thick which haunted rocks and caves near the seacoast, the old writer adding, "And he puts up his head on high like a pillar and catcheth away men, and he devours them."

Imitative Animals.

Some animals have wonderful powers of imitation. Dogs brought up in the company of cats have been known to acquire the trick of licking the paws and then washing the face. When a cat has been taught to sit up for her food her kittens have been known to imitate her action. Darwin tells of a cat that was in the habit of putting her paw into the mouth of a narrow milk pitcher every time she got the chance and then licking the cream off her paw. Her kittens soon learned the same trick.

His Conscience.

Fierce as he was, the infamous Chief Justice Jeffreys did not always escape the sting of a repartee. He went to a country assize once where an old man with a great beard came to give evidence, but had not the good fortune to please the judge, so he quarreled with his beard and said, "If your conscience is as large as your beard you'll swear anything." The old blade was nettled and briskly returned. "My lord, if you go about measuring consciences by beards your lordship has none."

Why Is It?

"Did you ever notice," said an observant young man, "that men as a rule run down the heels of their shoes on the outside, while women run them down on the inside?" He was asked to explain the reason, but said he had no reason, as he only mentioned it as being singular, with no means of explanation.

Heading Them Off.

Mrs. Villadom—Why do you want to call on the Borems tonight? Mr. Villadom—Because if we don't they're certain to come over here. It will be easier to go home when we're tired of them than to ask them to go home.

Too Candid.

Miss Highup—I think Miss Globetrot ought to be ashamed of herself. She says she found the paintings of the old masters dreadfully stupid. Miss Wayup—So do many others. Miss Highup—Yes, but she says so.

A Hint to Headquarters.

Mothers Praise It.

Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. A certain cure for coughs, croup and whooping cough. A. L. Don't Respect Old Age.

Disastrous Wrecks.

Carelessness is responsible for many a railway wreck and the same causes are making human wrecks of sufferers from Throat and Lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, even the wort cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Cragg of Dorchester, Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. The great remedy is guaranteed for all Throat and Lung diseases by L. Taggart Druggist. Not a Sick Day Since.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter wss entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility. This is what B. F. Bass of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50c, at L. Taggart, Druggist.

A Remarkable Discovery.

One of the greatest discoveries judging from the permanent cures made, is San-Cura Ointment, It relieves at once that itching, burning pain caused by Erysipelas, Tetter, Eczema, and Salt Rheum, San-Cura Ointment also cures Old Sores, Pimples, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Corns, Itching Piles and Insect Bites. It draws out all poison leaving a sound healthy skin. Aids in preventing scars. Druggists, 25c and 50c. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

Some men are like doormats—used only for others to walk on.

Healthy Mothers.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Boschee's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough racked consumptive. New trial bottles, 25; large size, 75c. At all druggists. 49-ly.

Thousands Cured.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has cured thousands of cases of Piles. "I bought a box DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve on the recommendation of our druggists," so writes C. H. LaCroix, of Zavalla, Tex., "and used it for a stubborn case of Piles, It cured me permanently." Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Our down town brothor (of the Gazette) had a slight stroke of paralysis last week, and before he regained consciousness threatened us with a libel suit. Poor fellow, his grounds and knowledge of a libel suit corresponds with his talent for music. We simply gave you a dose of your own medicine, a pill from your own pill bag, and Oh my, how awful, awful bitter it was. You have "charged" on me personally, directly and indirectly, several times a year, for several years, and I have overlooked it with consideration. You don't believe in being personal in your items, then why do you so indulge? People living in glass houses should be careful in throwing stones. You didn't get personal a few months ago, about a young lady and her wedding garments did you? You didn't abuse and misrepresent the ladies for not putting new seats in the church did you? If you are really in a hurry for those new seats, plank down the difference ($25.00) between what the ladies raised out of the ice cream socials, and the price of the seats, and they assure you that the seats will be placed immediately. You leave me alone brother, and I will leave you alone, but when you lower your shaft at me and tread on my corns, you have struck the wrong hen roost, for I can defend myself by tongue or pen. A Dutch Fishing Village.

Almost every fishing village in Holland has its special dress and its own quaint customs. One can see from old Dutch pictures that these have not varied for the last 200 years. One most interesting place is the island of Marken, a tongue of land on the margin of the Zuyder Zee, which can well be inspected in a couple of hours. It is so little above the sea level that the clusters of houses or tiny villages are built on mounds connected by bridges and nearly every little house has its own little moat and its own little boat—everything except the people is on a diminutive scale in Holland—moored near the door so as to be handy in case of flood. The houses, with the exception of the church and the clergyman's house, are built of wood on high piles. They are none of them very old as the place has often been flooded and burned. In winter Marken is often under water, and the inhabitants use boats to pass from one village to another. The cottages, which are painted blue, green or black, with pointed gables, and roofed with red tiles, are all exactly alike and possess only a ground floor built on high piles.

A Novel Time Glass.

"During a trip which I took through the West Indies several years ago," said a traveler, "I saw a sight in one of the villages which brought the old proverb, 'Necessity is the mother of invention,' forcibly to my mind. In the front of one of the houses on a veranda stood a sentry whose business it was to keep the time for the village by means of a primitive sandglass. Two bottles were firmly tied together mouth to mouth, and fixed in a wooden frame, made to stand in reversible positions.

"A quantity of black sand ran from one bottle into the other in just half an hour, and when the upper bottle was empty the frame was reversed. Twelve short sticks marked with notches from 1 to 12 were hung upon a string, and a hook was placed between the stick bearing the number of notches corresponding to the hour last struck and the one to be struck next. The sentry announced the time by striking the hours on a large gong."

Womanly Health, Strength and Beauty

Strength and beauty in woman depend entirely upon her health. A woman cannot look her best if suffering from one or more of the many ailments peculiar to her sex. These ailments invariably cause, sooner or later, the loss of her symmetry of form and freshness of complexion.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA
Herb Tea
Makes Strong and Beautiful Women.

It is a most pleasant and effective remedy for the troubles which cause so much suffering among women the world over. It relieves immediately and eventually cures all cases of disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, chronic constipation, sick head ache, nervousness and sleeplessness. These are the ailments which deprive a woman of her youth and beauty and make her old before her time. The use of the Herb Tea will enable her to retain these qualities. It clears the complexion and improves the form. A cupful at bed time will give a woman health and strength.

Chicago, April 19, 1903.
Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.:
Gentlemen:—My wife had been suffering with female weakness and extreme nervousness which latter the physician who has been attending her for a long time attributed to her being unable to sleep. After tossing about all night she would invariably rise in the morning with a terrible headache. The doctor seemed to be able to do nothing for her and she was constantly getting worse. She decided to try your Herb Tea and drank a cupful before retiring. In the morning she arose after a good night's rest and without a headache for the first time in months. She has continued taking it during the past three months and has forgotten what a sleepless night means. She is feeling splendid and every one remarks how well she is looking. Her complexion is as clear as a young girl's and her figure has improved wonderfully. Yours truly,

"TIRED OUT."

Man was dead there—with his eyes
Starin' starward, at cold skies;
Hands there, crossed upon his breast,
Thankful for the gift of rest.
Dead there—never any doubt;
Left this message: "Tired out!"

"Tired out!"—Life's weary ways—
Solemn nights, and h peless days;
Eyes the mists of grief made dim—
Thorns that pierced the feet of him.
Cry of fallen—victor's shout—
All are ended: "Tired out!"

Let him rest—blind to the sun,
And earth's sorrows: Life is done—
And a voice sings, after strife:
"Death is kinder far than Life!
On a curtained couch of sod,
Tired out, we dream of God!"

Sleep, O, traveler of the years,
Far from terror and from tears!
In that sleep's supreme control,
Dream the toiler had a soul!
Dead there—done with faith and doubt,
With this message; "Tired out!"
—F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

A DAUGHTER'S SACRIFICE

By MARCEL PREVOST

WE WERE talking one evening over our cigars and coffee in Armand G———'s beautiful library, after a dinner that was perfectly planned to stimulate the minds of men who live by their brain and pen. We spoke of woman's invasion in the field of contemporary literature.

The name of "authoress" is legion in the English language. Out of every three novels from across the Channel or the wider ocean two are signed by a feminine name. And the custom is spreading in France.

V——, a surly protectionist in all matters of art, detested the feminine party.

"Not a single one of them has shown talent superior to the least of us," he growled, "and they exceed the biggest of us in envy and vanity. I keep away from petticoats as I would a raging fire."

"Upon my word, I must have been more lucky than you in my meeting of the fair writers," exclaimed our host. "I have the most cordial relations with certain literary petticoats. And just recently I was forced to make a comparison between one of my brother authors and his opponent which was entirely to the advantage of Miss Petticoats."

We immediately demanded the story:

"Willingly," he replied. "It is instructive and interesting. A scholar would even say that it was a good contribution to the chronicle of literary feminism. I will begin at once.

"Like all the rest of you, I received a good many letters from strangers. Many are mere waste paper, some abusive, and by far the greater number ask for help in influence or money.

"These last I never read without a twitch at my heartstrings. In the face of the paper dated from some country town or eccentric corner of Paris I imagine I can read such anxiety and distress as I once felt, a struggling writer without genius or fortune.

"Why should I have succeeded where so many fail? I know well that certain professional beggars write in turn to every author. I do not care. I answer each letter as it comes, if only to say that I am powerless to help.

"Toward the end of last year I received a letter signed by a name I did not know: Jean Seguin. He had written a novel; he wished to submit it to me, and, if I was pleased with it, would I help him to find a paper and an editor?

"I answered: 'Send me your manuscript.' For if the reading of strange manuscripts is one of our most tiresome duties, I hold that it is one of the most imperious.

"I did not have long to wait. It was a large manuscript, finely written, in a feminine hand which did not seem to me that of a professional copyist.

"I opened it without enthusiasm—it is so rare a surprise to discover anything beyond an eager ignorance, or at the most a certain clever imitation. I read the first pages wearily; they were heavy and embarrassed.

"Later, a situation was sketched in a curiously handled environment. Evidently it was a woman's own history, with real letters and incidents that had happened.

"I became so interested that I finished the entire manuscript at a single sitting. It was at night, I remember, and the clock pointed to ten minutes past two when at last I looked up.

"In the joy of my discovery, I sat down and wrote immediately to the author, congratulating him and begging him to come to see me. I told him he might hope for much.

"Two days later, in the morning, my faithful Constant handed me a card: "Jean Seguin, 9 rue Renouard."

" 'The lady says that she has an engagement with you, sir.'

"I had guessed aright; Jean Seguin was a woman.

"She was introduced. I saw a lady of about 25, dressed in black, with irregular features, but of a charming freshness, her face surrounded by bands of chestnut hair that waved naturally. The mouth, rather large, was smiling; the nose was characterless, but the brown eyes, which looked straight into mine, were deep and intelligent.

" 'You are the author of "The Mortal Test," mademoiselle?' I asked.

" 'Yes, sir.'

" 'Good. I do not like the title you have chosen, but the work is full of merit. I am surprised that so young a woman should have written so well at the start.'

" 'I have worked for a long time, monsieur,' she replied simply.

"Fearlessly, and even with a certain pride, she told me that she had been a schoolmistress, but had always loved literature, and from the time she was a little girl had amused herself writing stories.

" 'My uncle, a professor in a provincial school, has written many books on education,' she went on, 'and my father, too, has written—'

" 'Ah, your father?'

" 'It was some time ago. He does not write any more now.'

"She changed the subject quickly and naturally. I did not insist.

"Presently she seemed more at ease and talked readily of her plans for the future. She was not ignorant of the difficulties of literary life; rather, she exaggerated them.

"She pleased me. She was capable of the greatest enthusiasm, but was without the slightest trace of envy or bitterness.

"We parted warm friends. She took her manuscript with her, for she wished to make a few changes. The very next day I set about finding an editor for her work.

"It was easier than I had hoped. The first review to which I wrote needed a shorter novel to bring in between two long ones. The editor, happy over his coming promotion in the Legion of Honor, interrupted me at once:

" 'I accept anything on your recommendation, old man. Bring on your George Sand.'

"I hastened to send the good news to Jean Seguin, begging her to send me the novel at once, as the review was waiting for it To my keen surprise, the young girl did not come to my office, nor did she send me any reply. The days passed. I wrote again. Then I received the following telegram:

"Pardon me, monsieur, but pray forget about my book. My father is very sick just now and I cannot leave him for a moment.'

"More than a moment passed. The editor of the review found another novel, and I must confess I had almost forgotten Jean Seguin, when one morning Constant brought me her card.

"The young girl entered, shook hands and sat down. There before me was still the same face, kind and intelligent, but worn, almost lined, with weariness and sorrow. She smiled sadly.

" 'My father has heart trouble,' she explained, 'and these attacks are always terrible. But, for the present, he is out of danger.'

" 'And "The Mortal Test?" Have you brought me nothing?'

"She looked me straight into my eyes, bit her lips with amusing hesitation and then, as I repeated my question, she suddenly burst into a flood of tears. She sobbed, gasping out the words:

" 'It is finished—I—I—I can—never publish it!'

"At last, when she grew calmer, she wiped her eyes and said:

" 'Forgive me, monsieur—I have been foolish to give way so—but you have been so kind—I owe you an explanation. I should not like you to think me a fool. Only I ask silence on your part. My real name is Georgette L———.'

"She told me a name that you would all recognize, the name of a man famous in our fathers' time. Bitterly jealous, he had quarreled with the other members of his sect and since then he had lived, solitary and lonely, with his daughter, or rather she had supported him.

"The thin, yellow face, the rasping voice of this wretched man rose before me as I listened to the voice of his daughter. She explained why I had not received 'The Mortal Test' and why her novel would never be published.

"Her father, spiteful in his home, as among his confreres, had always mocked the idea of his daughter ever writing. But, overcome with joy at the good news I sent her, Georgette had rashly told the story of her success to her father.

" 'I thought he would suffocate on the spot,' she said, simply. 'He fell back in his chair, tearing the collar of his shirt. For several moments he could not speak.

" 'When at length he found his voice he buried me beneath the horror of his wrath, accusing me of bribing the editor and yourself, monsieur! Then came fresh suffocation and for a week his life was in the greatest danger.

" 'Then I arranged with the doctor, who is one of his old friends and knows him well, a story of how my hopes had been dashed and the editor of the Review no longer wanted my manuscript. Papa saw that I was heartbroken; it did him good. He grew slowly better.

" 'Now he is all right, only he suspects me. He has locked up my manuscripts of "The Mortal Test," and he watches me closely whenever he sees a pen in my hand.'

" 'But what will you do?' I asked her.

" 'What is there left for me? I shall remain a schoolmistress.'

"And two big tears rolled slowly down her cheeks. At her very start she had met the bitterest enemy of woman writers in all Paris—her father!"—From the French, in N. Y. Sun.

Naming the Czars.

It has been a tradition since the time of Nicholas I. to name the czarowitzes alternately Alexander and Nicholas, says the New York Tribune. But the murder of Alexander II. caused his name to be considered unlucky, so there will be no more Alexanders on the Russian throne, as there will be no more Pauls or Peters. The czarowitz was therefore named Alexis, after the father of Peter the Great. He was a powerful and successful ruler.

GLOOMY OUTLOOK AT PORT ARTHUR.

Headquarters of the Third Japanese Army Before Port Arthur, Nov. 16.—It is reported that a wound received by Gen. Stoessel has necessitated his confinement in a hospital; that he refused to relinquish the command of the garrison, and that he has issued orders to the troops to die at their posts rather than surrender.

It is said that the spirit of the Russian troops has been dampened by continuous work, the lack of supplies and the hopelessness of their ability to make any successful defense of the fortress. It is said that many of the Russian soldiers are ready to surrender, but that that they are kept at their posts by officers, who threaten them with revolvers.

Mukden, Nov. 16.—An unbroken cannonade of siege guns, throwing 50 or 60 shells hourly against the Japanese position in the region of Shakhe station, begun early Monday morning ended only at nightfall, when more than half a thousand big shells had been thrown into the Japanese army's strongest position in the plain.

Che Foo, Nov. 16.—A Russian torpedo boat destroyer has entered the harbor. She has not been communicated with yet, owing to the roughness of the sea. It is reported that a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer has been seen outside, watching the movements of the Russian vessel.

———o—o—o———

RUSSIAN TORPEDO BOAT BLOWN UP.

The Russian torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropny has been blown up by her commander in the harbor of Che Foo, after having eluded the blockade of Port Arthur and succeeded in filing dispatches from Gen. Stoessel to St. Petersburg. It is presumed that she was destroyed in order to prevent the Japanese from cutting her out as they did the Ryeshitelni.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says the dispatches filed by the vessel's commander at Che Foo have reached there, but that their character has not been divulged. It is surmised from the fact that a vessel was removed from Port Arthur and exposed to large risk of destruction or capture, that the dispatches she bore are of great importance.

London, Nov. 17.—According to a dispatch received here from Che Foo Commander Plen, of the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropny, confirmed the reports that Gen. Stoessel is wounded, but says Gen. Fock is quite well. The commander added that there were sufficient supplies of food, ammunition and coal at Port Arthur to last a year.

Che Foo, Nov. 17.—A private letter received from Port Arthur says that all the foreigners there are well and that none of them has received any wounds during the fighting.

———o—o—o———

JAPANESE IN MANCHURIA REINFORCED BY 60,000 MEN.

Mukden, Nov. 18.—It is reported that 30,000 Japanese troops have been landed at New Chwang and 30,000 others at Pitsewo and that a turning movement on the Russian right is expected.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18.—As a result of the dispatch received from Gen. Stoessel, the war office expresses entire confidence that Port Arthur will be able to hold out till the arrival of the Russian second Pacific squadron.

Gen. Stoessel in his dispatches to Emperor Nicholas reports the repulse of a Japanese attack October 26 on the north front of Port Arthur. The Russian losses were 480 killed or wounded. All the attacks on November 3 were repulsed.

Gen. Stoessel was slightly wounded in the head during one of the latest assaults on Port Arthur.

Gen. Kuropatkin reports that in an ambuscade November 15 near Sinchinpu 32 Japanese dragoons were killed or wounded.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Consul General Fowler has cabled the state department from Che Foo that the situation at Port Arthur is extremely critical, the outer forts having fallen into the possession of the Japanese. He also states that three Japanese torpedo boat destroyers are lying outside of Che Foo harbor and that the Russian crew of the torpedo boat destroyer that was blown up Wednesday are transferring their arms and supplies to a Chinese cruiser which is posted in front of the Russian consulate.

Che Foo, Nov. 18.—Fighting at Port Arthur has taken place nightly since the Japanese began their general assault on October 26, according to Capt. Ronenberg, a pilot, who was a passenger on the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropny.

The Japanese trenches, the captain says, are closest to the forts on Rihlung and Keekwan mountains and the other forts of the northeastern group.

All the railroad steamers belonging to the Russians, except the steel screw transport Amur, have been sunk by Japanese shells.

The Japanese shells directed against the harbor are fired with remarkable accuracy.

A Conspiracy that was Unsuccessful.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Advices have reached here from Panama of a conspiracy there directed against the present government. It is understood that this conspiracy was directed against President Amador and was conceived by persons who want to control the remainder of the $10,000,000 fund paid by the United States to Panama in consideration for the right of way across the isthmus. The motive was a failure, President Amador having been warned in advance, but it is feared that the same elements will repeat the effort.

GROCERY MAN AND COOK.

Exchange Left-Handed Compliments and Come Out About Even.

"Better let me bring you a nice eggplant this mornin'," said the grocery man to the pretty cook, according to the Chicago Daily News. "Then you can make your own eggs, Evelina. What do you do with 'em all?"

"Batter cakes, sweet cakes, custards an' omelettes mostly," replied the cook.

"Don't you ever make eggnog?"

"I don't know what it is," declared the cook. "I've heard tell of it, but I couldn't say whether it was baked or fried."

"It ain't neither," said the grocery man. "It's biled. If you go to fry a eggnog you spoil it. I'd sooner eat it raw. Where was you Thursday night?"

"Stayed in an' sewed buttonholes on my dishcloths," said the pretty cook.

"What was that for?"

"To make 'em look pretty—same reason you've got your mustach curled. I think a man looks well curlin' up his mustach with curlin' tongs—like a girl."

"I never seen a girl curl her mustach myself," said the grocery man. "I wasn't to blame for this, though. It was the barber. He got me tied in the chair so's I couldn't move an' gagged me so's I couldn't holler an' then got out his hot irons an' done the job. I didn't want him to do it."

"I s'pose not," said the pretty cook.

"Sure thing I didn't. I knowed I was beautiful the way I was. My natural looks make me enough trouble with the girls."

"I don't think they ought to blame you for 'em," said the cook. "You can't help your face. I had an uncle once that looked something like you—not quite as bad, maybe—but he was sensitive about it all the same, which you ain't."

"He ought to have had his face amputated if it was as bad as that," observed the grocery man. "Or he might have gone to one of these face foundries an' had it recast. I knew a feller oncet they called Nosey, an' he saved his money an' went to a professor an' got his beak trimmed down so he didn't hardly have enough left to smell fried onions. Then they got to callin' him Pug, an' he went back to the professor an' wanted to know if he had any of the old material left to put back agin. The professor done the best he could an' the job looked all right, but Nosey died of heart failure less'n a month after that. He was scared to death for fear somethin' would make him sneeze."

"You'd better see one o' them professors," observed the pretty cook.

"Why would I?" asked the grocery man. "My nose is all right as far as it goes an' it goes as far as I want to foller it."

"Your nose may be all right."

"I guess it is," said the grocery man, indignantly. "How about my hair?"

"I don't like red myself," said the cook, "but the color's good enough for them as likes it. It's your lip I object to."

The Last Straw.

Mrs. Ponsonby-de-Style—Do you mean to say that all is lost?

Mr. Ponsonby-de-Style—Every penny. Nothing can be saved. We must give up this fine house.

"No matter. We will have less care."

"We must give up our horses."

"I can walk."

"And our servants."

"I will do the work myself."

"And—our hyphen."

Then she fainted.—Cassell's.

TILL NOON.

The Simple Dish That Keeps One Vigorous and Well Fed.

When the Doctor takes his own medicine, and the grocer eats the food he recommends, some confidence comes to the observer.

A Grocer of Ossian, Ind., had a practical experience with food worth anyone's attention.

He says: "Six years ago I became so weak from stomach and bowel trouble that I was finally compelled to give up all work in my store, and, in fact, all sorts of work, for about four years. The last year I was confined to the bed nearly all of the time, and much of the time unable to retain food of any sort on my stomach. My bowels were badly constipated continually, and I lost in weight from 165 pounds down to 88 pounds.

"When at the bottom of the ladder I changed treatment entirely, and started in on Grape-Nuts and cream for nourishment. I used absolutely nothing but this for about three months. I slowly improved until I got out of bed and began to move about.

"I have been improving regularly, and now in the past two years have been working about fifteen hours a day in the store, and never felt better in my life.

"During these two years I have never missed a breakfast of Grape-Nuts and cream, and often have it two meals a day, but the entire breakfast is always made of Grape-Nuts and cream alone.

"Since commencing the use of Grape-Nuts I have never used anything to stimulate the action of the bowels, a thing I had to do for years, but this food keeps me regular and in fine shape, and I am growing stronger and heavier every day.

"My customers, naturally, have been interested, and I am compelled to answer a great many questions about Grape-Nuts.

"Some people would think that a simple dish of Grape Nuts and cream would not carry one through to the noonday meal, but it will, and in the most vigorous fashion."

BUILDING COUNTRY ROADS.

Report of the Work Being Done in New Jersey—Six Inches of Macadam Enough.

New Jersey has been one of the leaders in the present good roads movement. It was the first to pass a state aid law, a measure that is in force in every state where a systematic work is done to produce uniform good roads. The money given by the state is not of first importance in this plan; it is the state supervision that counts for most. While the local officers have general charge of the work done in their county, the state engineer gives supervision and advice that prevents much of the wastefulness due to bad engineering and, in some cases, corruption.

New Jersey gives annually $250,000 as aid. The state pays one-third of the cost, the counties two-thirds, and ten per cent. of the counties' share may be assessed on the townships. The state has apportioned in the last ten years $1,500,000. The counties have spent more than double this amount, as they pay for bridges, surveying and incidentals. There have been builded by state aid 959 miles of road in New Jersey, and at the beginning of the year there had been applications for the improvement of 489 miles. When the law was first proposed there was strong opposition to it, especially from the county. Now the applications from the counties are always ahead of the state appropriations.

The road builders in New Jersey are held to be among the most advanced in ROAD AFTER IMPROVEMENT.

America. Experience has taught them that macadam roads in the country were being made needlessly costly. Macadam was laid on too thick and the roads were made too wide. When they began to get out of the mud in New Jersey they made the macadam 12 inches deep, and the stone beds were generally 16 feet wide. Now most of the roads have only six inches of macadam and are 10 or 12 feet wide. Six inches of macadam instead of 12 means that material formerly covering five miles of road now covers ten. A reduction in width from 16 to 12 feet means a further 25 per cent. saving.

Simply stated, the road builders have concluded that a thin road will last as long as a thick one, if given proper and timely maintenance.

Here is a statement of the cost of one of these six-inch macadam roads taken in body from the report of the commissioner of public roads of New Jersey for 1903:

November 9, 1903.
Mr. Henry I. Budd, State Commissioner of Public Roads, Trenton, N. J.
Dear Sir: Below find an exact detailed statement of the Centerville road, township of Hopewell, county of Mercer, state of New Jersey:
Total length, 10,400 feet, or 1.97 miles.
Width of stone bed, 12 feet.
Length of stone bed, 10,400 feet.
Depth of stone bed, class B, or six inches.

Resetting 258 feet of rock-faced coping at 30 cents; total	77 40
Lowering stone culvert	36 00
Blue stone coping furnished and set, 4x20 inches, 264 lineal feet, at $1.10; total	290 40
Laying 144 feet of 12-inch pipe; total	144 00
Earth excavation, including rock, 6,290 cubic yards, 38 195-629 cents; total	2,409 70
Drain, 13,412 lineal feet, at 22 cents; total	2,950 66
Supervisor's salary	363 00
Engineering expenses	323 46
Total	$15,224 90
Lump sum, contract price	$9,940 00
Maximum grade before	5 per cent.
Maximum grade after	2.75 per cent.

We hereby certify the above statement to be correct and that the pavement was constructed strictly according to the specifications, and that the depth of the finished pavement was class B, or six inches. Respectfully yours,
FRANK J. EPPELE, Engineer.
W. L. BURROUGHS, Supervisor.

The pictures of the road before and after improvement were made from photographs in the New Jersey report.

Mrs. L. C. Glover, Vice Pres. Milwaukee, Wis., Business Woman's Association, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: I was married for several years and no children blessed my home. The doctor said I had a complication of female troubles and I could not have any children unless I could be cured. He tried to cure me, but after experimenting for several months, my husband became disgusted, and one night when we noticed a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of similar trouble through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, he went out and bought a bottle for me. I used your medicine for three and one half months, improving steadily in health, and in twenty-two months a child came. I cannot fully express the joy and thankfulness that is in my heart. Our home is a different place now as we have something to live for, and all the credit is due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Yours very sincerely, MRS. L. C. GLOVER, 614 Grove St., Milwaukee, Wis." Vice President, Milwaukee Business Woman's Ass'n.

Women should not fail to profit by the experience of these two women; just as surely as they were cured of the troubles enumerated in their letters, just so certainly will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure others who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration; remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

An Indiana Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: It is a pleasure for me to write and tell what your wonderful medicine has done for me. I was sick for three years with change of life, and my physician thought a cancerous condition of the womb. During these three years I suffered untold agony.

"I cannot find words in which to express my bad feelings. I did not expect to ever see another well day. I read some of the testimonials recomending your medicine and decided to write to you and give your treatment a trial.

"Before I had taken half a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to sleep. I have taken now six bottles and am so well I can do all kinds of work."—MRS. LIZZIE HINKLE, Salem, Ind.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and always helpful.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

Hair Raising.

Just when the mutilation of the dead by tearing the skin from the head began will never be known, for the origin is lost in the midst of ages, the record extending back beyond even the mythical period of man's existence. In the book of Maccabees it is recorded that at the termination of one of the battles of which that bloody history is so full the victorious soldiers tore the skin from the heads of their vanquished foes. This would be evidence that the custom of scalp taking was one of the indulgences even of those people of whom we have record in the Bible.

Be it as it may, it is an established fact that the custom is a universal one, so far as savage man is concerned. Whether ethnologists can build a theory of a common origin of man from this or not, or whether this can be taken as an evidence that the Indians are the descendants of the lost Israelite tribes because of their habit of securing mementos of hair from their fallen enemies, is something time alone will develop. Be that as it may, it is a fact that all Indian tribes, to a certain extent, scalp their enemies who have fallen in battle.—London Globe.

Curious Fact In Natural History.

An incident which will be interesting to naturalists is told in a recent number of the Scotsman. One of the foresters in the employ of the Marquis of Lothian was returning from his work when he noticed a wild duck flying from a larch tree. On close examination he observed a common brown owl looking down from what appeared to be a nest in the cleft of the tree about thirty feet from the ground and apparently near the place from which the duck had flown. Curiosity prompted him to climb to the place, which he did with great difficulty. The owl on his approach flew off, and to his surprise he found in the nest two eggs—an owl's and a wild duck's. It is not uncommon for both owls and ducks to build their nests high up on trees, but it is unheard of for one nest to be appropriated by both birds.

A Clever Minister.

"To the town of Norridgewock, in Maine," said a clergyman, "a strange minister once came to preach. He preached duly, and after the sermon was over he mingled with the congregation, expecting that some one would invite him to dinner. One by one, however, the congregation departed, offering the hungry minister no hospitality, and he began to feel anxious. Where was he to eat? As the last deacon was leaving the church the minister rushed up to him and shook him warmly by the hand.

"'I want you to come home and dine with me,' the minister said.

"'Why, where do you live?' said the deacon.

"'About thirty miles from here.'

"The deacon reddened. 'Oh, you come and dine with me instead,' he said."

A Gypsy Prophecy.

An English magazine relates a curious instance of gypsy prophecy. The third Earl of Malmesbury, as Lord Fitzharris, was riding to a yeomanry review near Christchurch, when his orderly, some distance in front, ordered a gypsy woman to open a gate. The gypsy woman quietly waited till Lord Fitzharris and his staff rode up, when she addressed them, saying, "Oh, you think you are a lot of fine fellows now, but I can tell you that one day your bones will whiten in that field." Lord Fitzharris laughed and asked her whether she thought they were going to have a battle, adding it was not very likely in that case they would choose such a spot. More than forty years later the field was turned into a cemetery.

A Country of Linguists.

Almost every native of Iceland, even the peasants and fishermen, can speak at least one foreign language besides his local Danish dialect. Some years ago it became a fad to study languages, and now a person speaking only one tongue is looked down upon as extremely ignorant. English leads; then come German and French. Papers in these three languages are read extensively in Iceland and may be found in all the village reading rooms.

The Head and Feet.

The connection between the head and feet is well known. A hot head is ordinarily relieved by a hot footbath. So cold feet tend to congest the brain and other internal organs. Sometimes cold feet are caused by tight lacing or tight fitting shoes. But it is as much a suicidal act to hasten death by compressing the lungs or the feet as by compressing the neck with a rope.

A Serious Decision.
